

□

Create a reading text of 2 paragraphs with blank spaces to add vocabulary words. Include the following vocabulary: agreeable, conscientious, doubt, evidence, extrovert, minimal, neurotic, reliable, significant, treat

When it comes to personality traits, there are many that can be used to describe a person. Some people are _____, meaning they are friendly and easy to get along with. Others are more introverted, preferring to spend time alone. One trait that is highly valued in many settings is being _____. This means that a person is responsible and takes their duties seriously. They are often seen as trustworthy and _____.

When making decisions, it is important to consider all the _____. This means looking at the facts and information available to you. If there is _____ about something, it is important to investigate further before making a decision. This is especially true in legal settings, where _____ is required to prove guilt or innocence. In everyday life, it is important to be _____ in your interactions with others. This means treating people with respect and kindness, even if you don't necessarily _____ them.